

ACADEMIC HEMATOPATHOLOGIST, ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

University of California, Davis, Health System
Sacramento, California

The University of California (UC), Davis, School of Medicine seeks to hire one to two full-time Hematopathologists at the Assistant/Associate level in the Clinical (X) or the Health Sciences Clinical Professor Series in the Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine. This position is an academic physician-educator/investigator to grow clinical, teaching and creative programs in hematopathology. Training and expertise in lymphoma diagnosis, molecular pathology, coagulation and pediatric pathology is highly desirable. Clinical duties will primarily involve hematopathology and clinical hematology/coagulation services. Service assignments in surgical pathology or other areas of the clinical laboratory may also be possible based on training and experience. Teaching duties will include clinical, didactic, and small group teaching of housestaff and medical students, interdisciplinary conferences to housestaff and faculty, and curriculum development in subspecialty areas. Participation in the research mission of the institution is expected, either as a collaborator or as the intellectual leader of clinically-oriented research projects pertinent to the candidate's areas of expertise and subspecialty training, depending on academic series chosen for appointment.

Requirements: Must have an MD, DO or combined MD/PhD or DO/PhD, and be board certified in anatomic and/or clinical pathology along with board certification or eligibility in hematopathology. The ability to maintain a high level of service, work cooperatively and collegially within a diverse environment and excellent interpersonal skills to build and maintain excellent relationships with medical and technical staff, trainees, and others are all required, and have an appropriate record of accomplishment in clinical care, teaching and research to meet requirements for appointment at the Assistant/Associate/Full Professor level in one of the University of California's clinically-intensive academic series (Clinical (X) or Health Sciences Clinical Professor series). California professional license or eligibility for licensure in California is required.

For full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2022; however, the position will be open until filled, but not later than June 30, 2023. Please forward the following: (1) Curriculum vitae; (2) Cover letter; (3) Statement of Research; (4) Statement of Teaching (5) Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion; (6) List of names and contact information for at least five references to:
